

About the JOPNA Series

FREE Online About the Series

JOPNA has a Web presence at jopna.net, where you may download PDF copies of each title in the JOPNA series for FREE. Information and issues of JOPNA can also be accessed through the Native Nations Institute (nni.arizona.edu) and Harvard Project (www.ksg.harvard.edu/hpaied) Web sites.

Joint Occasional Papers on Native Affairs (JOPNA) is a joint venture of the Harvard Project on American Indian Economic Development at Harvard University and the Native Nations Institute for Leadership, Management, and Policy at the Udall Center for Studies in Public Policy, University of Arizona. The series grew from the desire to put the Harvard Project's and Native Nations Institute's premier academic research and policy reports together in one place. The JOPNA series seeks to provide policy-relevant research to an audience that includes tribal leaders (both current and future), policy scholars, and students.

About upcoming JOPNAs

We continually develop new additions to the JOPNA series, reflecting current NNI and Harvard Project research activities and, we hope, the concerns of our audience. Expect our upcoming publications to address a broad array of topics, strengthening and rebuilding tribal justice systems (by Stewart Wakeling and Miriam Jorgensen), and an assessment of per capita distributions (by NNI and Harvard Project staff).
