WHAT WE DO

All of our work is based on our Research & Policy Analysis, which supports Indigenous nation building—the process by which a Native nation strengthens its capacity for effective and culturally relevant governance and for self-determined and sustainable development. Our Education & Professional Development programs and our free Digital Resources offer opportunities for gaining in-depth, practical knowledge about Indigenous governance and community development. Through Tribal & Direct Services, we deliver research-based seminars, meeting facilitation and customized issue-focused consultations, and offer programs for Native youth aspiring to make a positive impact on their nations.
